NEW YORK, April 26, 1870.

The bill for the Funding of the public debt, as advocated by the Secretary of the Treasury and passed by the Senate some time ago, is reported to have been discarded by the Ways and Means' Committee, to whom it had been referred by the House; that committee having agreed to report this week—in its stead—a funding bill of their own make. This measure must be considered as paramount to the "killing" of any funding bill for the present session of Congress, it being apparent that no such bill can be matured, that will be supported by both Houses. The investment demand for Government securities is thereby favorably affected in the home market—as will be seen by to-day's quotations on page 27—but weakened abroad. Probably this action of the House Committee has also been anticipated by the chief manipulators of the Gold market, who, in the face of twenty-five millions of dollars in coin being added to its supply from disbursements by the United States in payment of May coupons, managed to effect an advance on the premium from 12½—as reported in our last—to a fraction below 14. At the time of our writing, gold is selling to-day at 113½.

The Money Market is again extremely easy, and all the indications point to continued ease. The last two weekly statements of the city banks show an aggregate gain in legal tenders of over five and a-half million dollars, reflecting not only the movement of currency from the West and Southwest towards this business centre, but proving that those "cliques in stocks and gold," who had previously manoeuvred to produce an artificial stringency by withdrawing large amounts of currency from circulation, have, for the time being, abandoned their schemes. The market is super-abundantly supplied with funds seeking employment. Call loans on stock collaterals are made at 4@5 per cent on Government and mixed collaterals respectively; transactions at 3 and 6 being exceptional. For commercial paper the ruling rate of discounting prime acceptances is 7 per cent, though transactions are reported between 6 and 7½. Inferior paper is also readily discounted, but has to submit to higher rates of discount, depending on its time and grade. Foreign exchanges are firm, under a limited supply of cotton bills. To-day's quotations are, taking sterling as the basis: 60 days' commercial, 108½@108¾; bankers', 109@109¼; sight bills, 109½@109¾.

The monetary ease gave a new impetus to active speculation, producing higher quotations in almost all the stocks and securities dealt in at the New York Stock Exchange.

For to-day's quotations in the various branches of the N. Y. Stock Exchange, see page 27.

NATIONAL BANKS AND SPECIE PAYMENTS.

The following extracts are from a letter written by the Hon. F. E. SPINNER, United States Treasurer, to H. B. WILSON, of this city, in relation to the causes of a non-resumption of Specie Payments.

"I have some fixed maxims in regard to governments. One is that a government has no business to do business. As I have considered the issuing of paper money a kind of banking business, and feeling a jealousy that the government might abuse the powers of a great moneyed corporation, I have therefore preferred the plan of having the currency supplied by the national banks. I have believed that so great a number of these institutions could not act in concert for evil, and that they would therefore not be so dangerous to our institutions as a single machine, managed perhaps as a political power and for political purposes by the government, or a single banking institution like the late Bank of the United States; but I confess that the recent conduct and present attitude of these banks have gone a long way towards satisfying me, as it has, no doubt, many thousand of other minds, that your views carried out may, after all, be for the best interests of the people.

"I notice that you state some errors that are in favor of the banks and that do not strengthen your argument. In your first pamphlet, near the bottom of page 14, you say: 'Our national banks owe their prestige mainly to the circumstance that their currency has a qualified government endorsement in the United States securities lodged in the office of the Comptroller of the Currency.' Now, the fact is, that the securities are lodged in this office; and that the endorsement that you speak of is not qualified, but perfect. The Treasurer of the United States is required by law to redeem the notes of a national bank that may fail, and it is immaterial whether the securities lodged with him for the purpose are sufficient or not. If there is loss, it is to the United States, and not to the billholder. In this respect the National Banking law differs from the Banking law of the State of New York. On the failure of a national bank to redeem its circulating notes, the Treasurer of the United States virtually becomes the cashier of such bank, so far, at least, as the redemption of its circulating notes are concerned. The notes of broken national banks are worth more than banks in good standing, because they can be converted in greenbacks, while good banks cannot be so converted.

"At page 22 you say:—'Our legal measure is gold, and prior to the war the two kinds of coins were at par as regards each other. Silver coin being now at a discount when measured by gold is evidence that its supply in our market is greater than the supply of gold, or, what would produce the same effect, the foreign demand for gold has been greater than that for silver, hence the relative difference in their market value.' You seem to have overlooked the fact that gold and silver are both a legal tender in the United States. So far as I know our country is the only one that persists in maintaining a dual standard of values. In other countries, either gold or silver is the legal standard, and they have changed from the one to the other. In our country, our silver standard was below the value fixed in commerce. The consequence was that our silver coins left our shores and went to foreign countries. Congress, instead of making gold the legal standard, kept up the double standard, and on February 25, 1853, passed a law reducing the silver half dollar from 208 grains to 192 grains, and all the lower denominations of the silver dollars in the same ratio. All this fractional coin was, however, declared to be a legal tender only for amounts under five dollars. The silver dollar asserts itself to-day. It cannot be bought at par with a gold dollar. The fractional parts of the silver dollar coined before 1853 are still worth more than their nominal equivalent in gold. The reason why the fractional parts of a dollar are not at par with a gold dollar is, therefore, because the two half silver dollars of recent coinages are about seven per cent short of a silver dollar or the fractional part of a silver dollar coined before 1853, and not because the supply in our market is greater than the supply of gold."

MYSTERIES OF COUNTERFEITING.

(From the Detroit Post.)

The most remarkable case of a particularly competent expert that has fallen under our observation in this city was developed in the counterfeiting case now on trial in the United States District Court.

One John B. Trout who is now serving a sentence in the Indiana State Prison, at Michigan City, was brought here to show that the Johnson family had been in the counterfeiting business in Indiana from 1863 until 1867, at which latter date Trout was sent to prison. But it came out in the course of the examination that he was thoroughly posted in the manufacture of counterfeit money, having been engaged in the business for fifteen years as an engraver of plates and printer of bank notes. For the benefit of the court, counsel, jury and spectators, he entered into a minute description of the process of engraving plates and printing notes, describing the various articles which had been seized in the Johnson house, and their uses in counterfeiting.

But the most wonderful exhibition of his skill was in telling the name of the engraver of a plate by examination of a bill printed from it. He was thoroughly familiar with the work of all the engravers. He detected a counterfeit from a genuine bill at a glance. He readily designated as counterfeit an issue which even the Treasury Department took as genuine for some time before detecting as false, the Department being then obliged to cancel the genuine issue because the false were so nearly perfect. The United States Marshal has a book containing samples of all the counterfeits yet issued. He looked at these bills, and told the engraver correctly each time, with very little examination.

Among these bills were those from plates engraved by Boyd, and Ulrich, and other celebrated counterfeiters, and which are so perfectly done as to deceive ninety-nine out of every hundred persons accustomed to the examination of money. Trout could not describe the process by which he distinguished these various bills, but characterized it as an indescribable instinct. He said he had worked off hundreds of thousands of dollars in counterfeit money while he was engaged in the business. He is apparently about 35 years of age, and seems to be on the brink of a consumptive's grave. His term of service does not expire for two years yet. But he says he does not expect a pardon, though so near death.

It seems surprising that a man of his talent should choose to use it in a course of crime and end his life in a State Prison. His skill, exercised in a legitimate direction, would doubtless have gained him a competency. But he is now a sad example how genius may be perverted when it lacks the balance of good sense.

THE LEGAT TENDER CASES.

In the Supreme Court of the United States, at Washington, on the 20th inst., Mr. Chatfield, of the counsel for the appellants in the cases of Latham and Deming vs. The United States, declared the appellants had determined their own appeals in these cases, and therefore moved to dismiss them and filed notice of withdrawal. There were present Attorney General Hoar, for the United States, and Messrs. Chatfield, McPherson and Merriman for the appellants. Hon. Clarkson N. Potter was also in court by leave to discuss the legal tender question if heard. After the motion was made to dismiss, Attorney General Hoar expressed his opposition to it, but desired, in case the Court concluded to dismiss these appeals, to grant the motion he made last week to re-hear Mr. Potter's Hepburn vs. Griswold, which was still undecided. He urged the argument ought to be heard, involving so many important interests, and especially in view of the fact that the fourteenth amendment of the constitution has ratified the Legal Tender act of Congress, and the validity of this issue of the public debt to the full measure of its statutory qualities could no longer be questioned in the courts.

Justices Miller and Bradley suggested doubts as to the rights of the appellants to withdraw the appeals, and asked for a conference. After a brief conversation among the judges the Chief Justice announced that the Court would retire for consultation, which they accordingly did. They returned in a few minutes, when the Chief Justice said the motion to dismiss the appeal was unanimously concurred in by the Court as the absolute right of the parties, and he at the same time announced that the Court had determined to deny the motion of the Attorney General for a re-hearing in the Hepburn and Griswold case. This is the case in which the Court heretofore decided that the Legal Tender act is invalid as to contracts made before its passage. The Chief Justice said the reason why the hearing was denied was that none of the four judges now on the bench who concurred in the opinion in that case desired to have the case re-heard, and under the rule of the court, without the consent of some one of the judges who concurred in the decision of a case, it could not be re-heard.

The action of the Supreme Court, in dismissing the legal tender cases upon the motion of counsel for the plaintiffs does not finally dispose of the question at issue. It merely postpones the subject until the next term of the court, when a new case, similar to the one dismissed, will come up for argument. The announced decision of the court stands, however, as law until the next session of the court, or until the case is disposed of.

Counterfeit Tobacco Stamps.

The points of difference between the counterfeit and the genuine stamp are so marked as to be easily detected by the glass. They are as follows:

FIRST; The imprint in the counterfeit is badly engraved, and a trifle larger than the genuine. The words "Continental Bank Note Co., New York," in the genuine are small, distinct, and not connected, each letter standing separate, while in the counterfeit the letters are heavier, and more crowded, larger, and closer together, and in the word "Continental" the "i" joins the "n," making the "i" and "n" look like an "m," with a period at the end of the imprint in the counterfeit, which is omitted in the genuine.
SECOND; In the sky of the counterfeit, over the mane of the horse, will be observed four small dots; in the genuine the sky is made of straight lines.
THIRD; The ornamental stars resembling small stars on each side of the vignette in the lathe work of the counterfeit, look imperfect and blurred, while in the genuine they appear bright.
FOURTH; Over the white faced figure "6" on the left side of the stamp in the genuine is a small black figure, a part of the lathe work pattern which is wanting in the counterfeit, and the imitation lathe work of the counterfeit has a muddy appearance, while in the genuine the patterns are clear and distinct.

NEW COUNTERFEITS.

Every counterfeit that has ever been made has one or more mistakes in it. Our aim is to show what that mistake is.

50 CENT FRACTIONAL CURRENCY.

New Issue—A very good counterfeit. The portrait of Lincoln is coarser and darker than the genuine, and the lathe work in the centre of the die is also darker.

TRADESMEN'S NAT. B'K, N. Y. CITY.

20s, imitation. The paper is rather poor, the shading irregular, and impression imperfect, but it is a very dangerous counterfeit. The words "New York," read "Mew York."

NATIONAL BANK OF THE COMMON-WEALTH, New York City.

10s, imitation. A very dangerous counterfeit. The face of the bill is well done, and the green ink on the back a good color. Observe the representation of De Soto on the back of the bill—the hind legs of his horse are quite indistinct—in genuine they are distinct and well defined. Signatures engraved. Look out for them.

MARKET NAT. BANK, N. Y. City

20s, imitation. Well done and very likely to deceive. The green ink is darker than on the genuine.

5s, GREENBACKS.

The green ornamental engraving, lengthwise of the bill, in the counterfeit, is of a paler color than in the genuine, and has a brighter look than the dark green of the original. Seen under the microscope the engraving is coarse, but to the naked eye the bills have a very good appearance.

10s GREENBACKS.

The engraving is coarse. The vignette of Lincoln is a very indifferent engraving, and the scroll work around the medallion is poorly imitated. Letter C, twenty-third series.

10s, GREENBACKS.

An excellent imitation of the genuine. Note the following discrepancies. In the genuine, the shading around the 10 in the medallion appears like a fine net work, and runs close up to the figures. In the counterfeit, the shading is "picked up," and becomes coarser as it reaches the figures, forming a light streak or circular haze. Another test is on the figure 10 within the light circle. The genuine has three and one-third dots on the left on the fig. 10, while the counterfeit has but three. Thus:

GENUINE.	COUNTERFEIT.

But the surest test is under the left wing of the eagle. The genuine has FOUR DISTINCT ROWS OF FEATHERS under the wing, while in the counterfeit the rows of feathers are undefined. One issue of this counterfeit is of the new series, letter D, No. 53; another is letter D, with a small 5 under the D, No. 23. These counterfeits are the best we have ever seen.

Newer issues have appeared lately, in which the defects above referred to have been corrected. We would advise our patrons to refuse all tens, greenbacks, unless they know the parties from whom they receive them.

20s, GREENBACKS.

A dangerous counterfeit. Green ink a good color, but the paper too yellow. Principal defect is the die. No clear and distinct lines around the 20. Looks more like a collection of several spots. Female well done, but the face rather coarser than the genuine.

50s, GREENBACKS.

Imitation. Observe the figures 50 on back of the bill around the margin. The 5 in the imitation runs into the 0 on the lower left corner, and reads 550 instead of 50. The buttons on Hamilton's vest which are very distinct in genuine are scarcely discernable in the counterfeit. Genuine has FIVE while in the counterfeit you can hardly see FOUR. The note is dated March 10th, 1863. We would advise our patrons to scrutinize carefully all $50 Treasury Notes, unless they know the parties from whom they receive them.

FRAUDULENT BANKS.

Lynn Park National Bank, N. Y. (No such bank.)

2s. Very well done.

Nat. Union Bank of Linderpark, N. Y.

2s. (NO SUCH BANK) well calculated to deceive.

National Bank of Idaho Territory.

10s. Well done.

National Bank of the State "IN" N. Y.

10s. Coarsely done.

Mechanics' National Bank of Janesville, N. Y.—(NO SUCH BANK.)

10s. A very good looking bill—look out for them.

COUNTERFEIT GREENBACKS.

1s, (1st kind) can be readily detected by the inferior style of the engraving, particularly the head of Chase. The mouth is crooked, the eyes imperfect, and the hair on the top of the head resembles side hair brushed over to cover baldness. The back is of a lighter green than the genuine.

1s, (2d kind) the general appearance is very coarse and may readily be detected; green ink is very pale. On the imitation there is a BLACK STRAIGHT LINE under the red figures on the upper part of the bill; none in gen.

2s, imit., well executed. Coat of Hamilton badly done. The shirt bosom of Hamilton is very dark and uneven, but in the genuine white and plain. The shading of the words "UNITED STATES" light and broken.

5s, 10s, genuine notes without the red seal, and others reported without the usual number being printed upon them.

5s, imit., words "United States" heavily shaded. Gen. are clear, slightly shaded and plain. The words "Patented 30th June, 1857," under the words N. York are on the counterfeit bill. All the counterfeits are letter A, and are $\frac{1}{4}$ inch shorter than the genuine.

On the new series of letter "A," around the figure of Liberty on left end is a plain black line. On the counterfeits, this line along the bottom of the figure running towards the right of the note forms two distinct lines, on gen. only one. But this may be a counterfeiter's dodge to have it described and alter it afterwards.

5s, imit., this bill is well calculated to deceive, and the only difference we can detect is in the die on the right end enclosing the figure 5. The genuine has three black circles enclosing the 5. The imit. has only two, and on lower right end figure 8, and on left end series 90.

10s. Paper very light, and the green ink of a lighter shade. Dated March 10th, 1862.

10s imit. There are 16 small Xs on upper right margin, and only 15 on the genuine. The words "Printed by the National Bank Note Co." on lower left margin extends over $\frac{1}{2}$ of the Xs on imit. and 8 on the genuine.

10s, imit., has 14 small x's on upper right margin—16 on left. The gen. has 15 x's each side of engravers name. Portrait of Pres. Lincoln is very coarse and pale looking; imit. are dated Washington, March 10, 1862, letter C.

20s, very close imit. of gen., the engraving is good, in the center figure the foot of the female can scarcely be seen. On the left end bottom are the words "Payable at the Treasury of the U. S. at New York." The A's in payable are too small and uneven. The letter 'x' in the word 'The' is not crossed in the centre. The imprint is defective; the green ink is of too light a color.

50s, alt'd from 2s, portrait of Hamilton on left centre. The vignettes of the two-dollar and fifty-dollar Treasury note are the same. Ingenious persons are counterfeiting the body of the fifties and using the vignettes of the twos, producing a note that deceives experts.

50s, imit. observe the figures 50 on back of the bill around the margin, the 5 in the imit. runs into the 0, gen. does not. The word 'FIFTY' around the above 50 can scarcely be read. Words 'LEGAL TENDER' is very much blurred. Letter C dated March 3, '63. On the left lower corner the No. 550 instead of 50 enclosed in one circle.

50s, imit., observe the head of Hamilton, upon the face of the note, which represents the line of the waistcoat crossing the white collar at the neck. The acute angle formed by the shape of the collar, so far as it is shown, is perfect in the counterfeit note; but in the genuine the lines of the flesh were drawn by the engraver across the point of the collar at its junction with the waistcoat, for the purpose of relieving the angle of the sharpness it would otherwise have exhibited. This difference is not readily observed unless the notes are perfectly clean. The other discrepancy is in the shape of the ornaments in the border on each end of the face of the bills, and in the whole border on the back. The figures "50" are engraved on a green ground, of which the rim, in the genuine bill, is in octagonal form, rather well defined, though the angles are not sharp. The eight sides of what at first view appeared to be circles, may be easily discerned. In the counterfeit bill the border ornaments, containing the "50" are octagonal in only a very slight degree, and seem to be perfect circles. The general appearance of the counterfeit gives no indication of its true character.

100s, imit. the red figures are much larger than the figures of any Treasury Notes, the wings of the eagle are very coarse—the double rule running from it is heavier, and the curve twice as large, while there is a diagonal shading at the joint of the imprint with the rule, which does not appear on the genuine. On the right end of the back of the bill, the 100 in the circles are inverted, thus, 001. In the genuine this inversion is on the left end. The imprint, American Bank Note Co., is very uneven, and too large.

100s, imit., (2d kind) of the notes issued under the act of February, 1862, well executed. The spurious note is smaller, and the coloring on the back is paler than on the genuine bill. The words "one hundred dollars" on the right hand side of the counterfeit are smaller than on the genuine note.

100s, imit., (3d kind) the note is smaller than the genuine, the spread eagle is very coarse, and the shading of UNITED STATES is badly done. The bill is calculated to deceive.

COUNTERFEIT COUPONS.

The following are the words on the coupons: "Acts of July 17 and August 5, 1861. The United States of America will pay to bearer fifty dollars for six months' interest due 1st January, 1867, upon bond No. 785, for $500. L. E. Chittenden, Register United States Treasury.

FIVE CENT COIN COUNTERFEITS

Are in circulation. They may be distinguished from the genuine by the softness of the metal

COUNTERFEIT

FRACTIONAL CURRENCY.

Old Issue.

50s, imit., the portraits of Washington differ one from another; in the genuine they are all alike; the green color looks light and pale.

25s, imit., well executed. Look out.

2d Issue.

10s, imitation. All gen. on the top has the word "Depositories," the imitation reads "Depositories."

50s, imit., have a pale slate color. The small barrels on lower right corner are very indistinct. The gen. have six barrels perfectly clear and plain. Three on lower row, two on next, and one on top. The counterfeit barrels are black, and gen. are white.

50s raised from 5s.

3d Issue.

50c. imit.; two kinds of the new long 50 cent currency. The imitation of one kind has DESIGNATED on upper right corner instead of DESIGNATED. The second kind has designated correctly spelt, but on the little American Shield, under the Eagle, there is a black line drawn across the upright bars of the Shield. Not up on the genuine.

25s, imit., are very pale and coarse. The letter C in cents on left end is smaller than the other letters, and too far off.

New Issue.

25, imitation. Above the words "Treasury Department," on the bottom of the hill in the genuine there is a fine wavy line—the counterfeits have a straight line.

Notice the shading of the "25" on the back of the note. The genuine is dark, while the counterfeit is very pale, and very little darker than the other green. The word "of" on the face of the genuine appears thus—"of"—on the counterfeit "of."

25s, imit., well executed, but may be detected by the absence of a period (.) after the word Treasurer under Spinner's name; the work is better than any we have previously seen and liable to deceive unless carefully examined.

25s, well executed; head of Chittenden; where it reads "Furnished only by the Assistant Treasurers" the Assistant is spelt "Assistatn." In the genuine the shading of the letter "E" in "Five" is unbroken, while the counterfeit has a little notch in it.

50s, well executed. The engraving on the face of the note is excellent. The adverse is slightly blurred. The notes are an eighth of an inch narrower than the genuine.

50s, the "y" in "Colby's" name crosses a bar of the coat in the genuine, but not in the counterfeit.

50s, the line of stars on counterfeit between the figures "50" at the top and bottom of the back of the note have white centres, while the entire stars on genuine are in green. The reading in black on the genuine note clear and distinct, while on the counterfeit the bronze is printed on the black, the words "FIFTY CENTS" being almost obliterated.

50s, well done. The last "e" in the signature of F. E. Spinner is omitted in some, and the (.) after print. on one end, and the d. after March 3d.

50s. New and dangerous counterfeits of the last issue of the fifty cent fractional currency notes, which bear upon their face the head of Treasurer Spinner, have been detected by the Treasury Department. It can be detected by the absence of a period (.) after the word print on the right end, and also under the letter "d" in "March 3d," on the left end. The paper is thicker than that of the genuine notes, and the general appearance is calculated to deceive unless closely inspected.

COUNTERFEIT 7.30 BONDS.

The seal is slightly larger than the genuine; the red ink with which it is stamped is a shade lighter, and the points projecting from the seal are blurred and a little longer than the genuine. The imprint at the bottom of the face of the bond is set different in the margin, there being more space given it than in the genuine. The borders of the coupon which are attached to the counterfeit bonds are larger, while the red figures are finer than in the genuine. The borders of the ornamental lathe work are blurred and somewhat indifferently executed. The figures denoting the bond are slightly uneven, while the blue ink in which they are printed is a duller blue and lacks the metallic glossy appearance of the genuine.

These bonds are issued by the government under Acts of July 1st, 1862, and July 2d, 1864, to Companies receiving their charter from Congress, which gives them the right to construct railroads to and from the Pacific Coast, and on the completion of each twenty miles of track to receive at the rate of $10,000 to $32,000 or $48,000 per mile, according to the difficulty of constructing the same. They are payable thirty years from date of issue, and are registered in bonds of 1,000, $5,000, and $10,000. Amount issued up to Sept., '69.....$60,860,320

A counterfeit coupon for three dollars, purporting to belong to a one hundred dollar 5.20 bond, has been received at the Treasury Department, which had been sent from Germany to New York, cashed here and forwarded to Washington for collection. The counterfeit is a lithograph, and when compared with the genuine coupon it could be easily detected by the most inexperienced persons; as the execution is rough and ineffectual, the paper thin and common, and a trifle shorter than the genuine coupon. It assumes to belong to the 5.20s of 1862, fourth series, and bears the stamp of some German house on the back, but too indistinctly to be deciphered fully.

10s, init. This is a dangerous counterfeit and very likely to deceive. On right end, female on a spread eagle; left end, Franklin drawing lightning from the clouds. The string which passes through the key looks as though broken off, and runs under the clouds instead of over, as in the genuine. The centre of the note looks very well. Above the title, the words "Auburn City" looks as if there was a black line drawn over the letters.
The back of the note is rather dark.

20s, imit. The engraving good, but darker than the genuine. The woman's face, arms and neck in the engraving of the Battle of Lexington are black—in the genuine they are white; the clouds back of the soldier's heads are heavy and dark in the counterfeit—in the genuine they are scarcely to be seen. Well calculated to deceive.
